MUSIC AT FUNERAL

BOTHELO'S WILL ORDERED A FULL BAND.

Decedent Also Proposed to Provide Primo—Two Hundred Dollars Left For Prayers of Priests.

The will of the late Francisco Botelho, who died on June 2, was filed for probate this morning, and contains some unusual features. It is not as unusual, however, as it would have been had the deceased had his way, for when he was on his deathbed, he proposed inserting an item for refreshments for those who attended his funeral.

As it was Botelho ordered that a full band be provided to attend his funeral and left a goodly donation to a priest to say masses for his soul. The will is not unlikely to be attacked, as it provided for the disposition of some donations due the deceased from the Portuguese societies of which he was a member, in a manner that is said to be contrary to the rules of those societies.

The will contains the following provisions: "I do hereby order that a full and complete band be engaged to render solemn music at my funeral.

"To Gulstan Ropert, as Bishop of this Catholic Diocese and to his successors in office, I give and bequeath the sum of $200 for the consideration of which they are to conduct, spiritual services for the benefit and rest of my soul."

The donations due Botelho are from the Portuguese Mutual Benefit Society of Hawaii and the Sociedade Portuguesa de Santo Antonio Beneficente de Hawaii. With a note secured by a mortgage, they make his estate amount to $1,500. The will was made on April 23, when the deceased was suffering with his final illness. At the time of making it he suggested that refreshments ought to be provided as well as a band, for the funeral, and proposed a sum of money for Prino, wherewith to assuage the thirst of the mourners.

Botelho left $500 each to a minor son and daughter, Antonio and Guilherme and ordered that a guardian be appointed for them. After the payment of these and other bequests, the son and daughter, Jose and Maria, are to have the residue if there is any. Cardello Grillo is named as executor of the will.

Cecil Brown was this morning appointed administrator of the estate of the late Robert L. Latham, by Judge Humphreys, without bonds, as provided in the will left by the deceased.

Henry Smith has filed his first annual account as guardian of Miriam Naomi Lazarus.

BUILDERS' EXCHANGE.

This is the last day upon which members of the Master Builders' Association can qualify as members of the Builders' and Traders' Exchange without payment of dues by simply signing the roll. Nearly every one of the seventy-five members of the old organization have signed the new by-laws, but a few have so far neglected to come up to the exchange and put down their names. This is also the limit at which the $5 initiation fee for new membership expires. Hereafter it will be $25. Applications dated today, however, will be received tomorrow.

The Exchange membership is rapidly increasing but it is the desire of the Directors that every firm or corporation eligible to membership shall join as they have important matters to take up with government officials both here and in Washington which make it very desirable that the membership be as comprehensive and influential as possible.

Increase of tourist traffic, the reservation of government contracts for American citizens and so far as practicable American workmen, complete and adequate building and sanitary laws and other objects worthy of the support of the entire community are on the tapis for this organization to take up as rapidly as possible, to say nothing of the proposed Merchants' fair and the St. Louis Exposition in both of which projects the Exchange is already interested.

WHOOPIING COUGH.

My little son had an attack of whooping cough and was threatened with pneumonia but for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy we would have had a serious time of it. TO HOLD WARRANTS

AWARDS OF THE FIRE CLAIMS COMMISSION.

Certificates All Ready and $15,000 Warrants Made Out—News From Pratt Will be Awaited.

Warrants for the Chinatown fire claims will not be issued at once, as had been expected, it having been decided to be better to wait for news from Washington before giving out any awards. The commissioners are entirely through with their work, and the clerk of the court has made out all of the certificates of award.

About 15,000 warrants have been prepared and will be ready to be given out, though not to be paid, if news should come that the efforts to secure help from Washington are a failure. It is thought, however, from the reports that have come so far, that the chances are very good for action favorable to Hawaii in the matter, in which event full payments may be made at once, instead of the claimants being given warrants due one next month and two others, one and two years later.

The certificates of award are all dated tomorrow, July 1, 1902. The auditor has been working on them for some time now, and work is being continued. The warrants may be of no use if Congress makes an appropriation for the payments, but the certificates of awards already made out will in all probability be available for use just the same.

THE MERCHANTS' FAIR

PLANS FOR THE BUILDING ARE ADOPTED.

Will Be On the Drill Shed Grounds Building 60 by 100 Feet—4000 Square Feet of Exhibit Space.

Plans for the Merchants' Fair building have now been practically adopted. The building will be placed in front of the Drill Shed on the open space now controlled by the Army Quartermaster. The building will be a structure 100 by 60 feet extending practically from the Drill Shed to Hotel street. The front will be on Hotel street. There will be two entrances on Hotel street each opening on a ten-foot aisle running the entire length of the building and leading back to the Drill Shed where the Agricultural Fair will be held at the same time. These aisles will divide the space of the building into three parts, giving about 4,000 square feet of exhibit space on the sides and between the aisles.

The building will be so arranged as to secure abundant light and air. The roof will be supported by a row of pillars or posts down the center of the building.

About forty exhibitors are now assured. The Committee which decided on the plans for the building consists of George W. Smith, Robert Catton, John J. Rothwell and W. W. Dimond. Building operations will commence very soon, and the entire building will be in readiness in ample time for the opening of the fair.

Wray Taylor, Commissioner of Agriculture and Forestry, received by the Gaelic proof sheets of the lithographed diplomas and premium awards to be given successful competitors at the Agricultural Fair. They are considered very handsome affairs. The Commissioner today publishes the list of exhibits in which competition is invited and in which prizes and diplomas will be awarded.

BISHOP RESTARICK.

Secretary H. E. Cooper received word by the Gaelic from Bishop-elect Henry Bond Restarick, that he expects to arrive here by the new steamship Korea August 8.

Rev. Restarick will be consecrated in St. Peter's church, San Diego, July 2. In connection with the consecration at this time, there will be a celebration of the Holy Communion at St. Andrew's Cathedral, Honolulu, at 7 o'clock on the morning of July 2. There will be services at St. Clement's church in the same connection, the service being at 10:30 o'clock. There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion.

"SING SWEET BIRD."

D. G. Camarinos received a consignment of fine singing canary birds on the Nippon Maru. They can be purchased at his establishment on King street.

PAIN'S LATEST SUIT

JUDGE ESTEE REFUSES AN INJUNCTION.

Motion Made to Dismiss the Proceeding to Stop Electric Cars on King Street.

The Hawaiian Tramways and Honolulu Rapid Transit company fight was resumed this morning in Judge Estee's court, the contest this time being over the right of the electric road to continue in operation along King street between Thomas square and the Waikiki road. The injunction asked for if granted would stop the Rapid Transit company from operating the road, though the injunction suit was brought while the work of construction was in progress, to stop that work as well.

The old submission to the Supreme court of Hawaii, under agreed facts and an agreement of both the companies to abide by the results, is the main subject of contention, as before. After the reading of the petition for an injunction and the showing of cause why an injunction should not be granted, Judge Estee asked for the original copy of his former decision. In that decision he held that the Hawaiian Tramways company was bound by its agreement to submit to the decision of the Supreme court.

In opening the case Breckons declared that a new question, involving a new part of the city streets, was involved in the present case. In 1898, when Ballentine and Pain submitted the proposition, the Rapid Transit Company was about to construct a road from Nuuanu stream to Thomas square, and the question was as to its right to use King street in this locality. The question submitted however, was "Has the Rapid Transit company the right to lay rails on King street, for more than 1,700 feet?"

Breckons contended that the present action raises a new question, as to the right of the electric road to occupy King street, between Thomas square and the Waikiki road. He proceeded to attack the Rapid Transit franchise, granted by the legislature in 1898.

"The showing of cause admits," said Breckons, "the virtue of its failure to deny, that there was no legislature in 1898 in Hawaii, and no Republic of Hawaii, as is set forth in our petition. Yet the showing declares that the rights of the company to use King street are claimed under and by virtue of an act of the legislature of the Republic of Hawaii in 1898, and the approval thereof by the President." Breckons proceeded to discuss the situation as to the legislature, claiming that the Republic of Hawaii was not in existence in 1898, and that it could not grant a franchise.

Judge Estee ruled that once on the proposition of issuing a temporary injunction, denying the motion to issue such an injunction. The court rests on its former decision on practically the same issue.

After the denial of the motion for a temporary injunction McClanahan made a motion to dismiss the suit, and argument was begun on this motion, to be continued this afternoon.

The case is likely to be very quickly finished. There are practically no issues of fact involved, each side admitting what the other claims, as to the construction and operations of roads, the existence of licenses, etc., so that there are only the legal contentions to be made.

WAS VICTIM OF SPITE

SENATOR KANUHA'S PROPERTY MUTILATED.

Doors and Windows of His New House Cut and Slashed With Knife—Lanai Also Damaged.

Senator D. Kanuha believes was the victim of a piece of spite work last week. He has reported the matter to the police and Detective David Kaapa is investigating the affair.

Senator Kanuha has been having a new residence built in Palama. On Friday night some persons visited the structure and did a large amount of damage to the doors and windows. The doors and windows had not been fitted into their places as the construction of the house had not gotten along far enough to warrant it. The panels of a dozen doors were cut and the rest of the woodwork otherwise slashed with a knife. The windows were broken, some of them being completely demolished. The posts on the lanai were also cut and mutilated.

There is no clue as yet to the perpetrator of the outrage, but the attention of the police has been directed toward a certain person who is suspected by Senator Kanuha of having committed the deed. The affair has no political significance, Senator Kanuha thinks, but was simply a case of personal spite work.

BISHOP ESTATE DEED

The deed of Pearl Harbor lands by the Bishop estate to the United States, in accordance with the compromise recently arranged was approved this morning by United States Attorney Dunne, and the transfer will be made at once, closing the case.

KAUAI REPUBLICANS

THE LIHUE AND KEALIA CLUBS ELECT OFFICERS.

Other Districts Wait to Learn More of The Governor's Civil Service Order. The Maui Republicans.

LIHUE, Kauai, June 28.—The Republican Club of Lihue district, Kauai, held its meeting on the evening of Friday, June 28, as required by the party regulations, for the election of officers for the ensuing two years. The meeting was called to order by John D. Willard, Republican Central Committeeman, the president of the club. W. G. Smith, and the secretary, Charles Rice, both being absent, Mr. Willard was elected as temporary chairman and H. D. Wislhard as temporary secretary of the meeting. The election of officers, the regular business before the meeting, was proceeded with, and the following members were elected to office: W. H. Rice Jr., president; H. D. Wislhard, secretary; S. K. Kaeo, assistant secretary; F. Weber, treasurer; H. K. Kabele, first vice-president; and William Fisher, second vice-president. E. P. Haskins, J. H. Taven, and J. H. Fernandez, judges of election; J. H. Cony, C. W. Spitz, William Ellis, John D. Willard and F. Caltano members of the executive committee. The meeting was attended by fifty or sixty of the leading Republicans of Lihue, and the balloting for officers was spirited and interesting, there being in each instance not less than three candidates for the office. Mr. Rice upon taking the chair as president made a neat little speech, thanking the club for the honor conferred upon him, and asking the hearty co-operation of all the members in the performance of duties which would involve no slight responsibility and no little work upon them all considering the condition of political affairs and the stress of the coming campaign. A general discussion of work and methods took place after the regular business had been disposed of, and many valuable suggestions were made and considered. The meeting finally adjourned with cheers for the Republican party.

The Republican club of Kealia also had a spirited and enthusiastic meeting on the evening of June 27. About forty members were present and the following officers were elected: Prince L. Tople, president; Jacquelin Souza, first vice-president; M. F. Taven, second vice-president; M. C. Souza, secretary; Joe Rodriguez, assistant secretary; Joe A. Souza, treasurer; F. H. Smith, T. F. Sanborn and Edna Mendes, judges of election, and H. P. Sheldon and C. Kakuia members of the executive committee.

Other Clubs held meeting last night and adjourned until more definite instructions can be obtained in regard to the rights of Government officials to take part in politics in many communities. It is considered that the government officials are the most intelligent, capable citizens, and to organize without their assistance would be to cripple the precinct clubs. It is hoped that definite instructions explanatory of themselves, will be sent to all officials as soon as possible.

WAILUKU, June 28.—The meeting called for the election of officers of the Wailuku Precinct Republican club was held last night at Wailuku court house. A. N. Kepoikai withdrew his name as candidate for president of the club, and J. W. Kalulu was elected by acclamation. Judge S. E. Kakeikan and N. W. Aluli were elected first and second vice president respectively. S. Kellinui was elected by acclamation as secretary, J. K. Saunders, assistant secretary, and L. M. Baldwin, treasurer. The following were elected by ballot as the executive committee: A. N. Kepoikai, W. E. Bal, C. B. Wells, William E. Saffery and J. K. Kakeikan. N. W. Aluli, L. Baldwin and J. N. K. Keola were named as a committee on rules, and the club adjourned, to meet at the call of the newly elected president.

WAS KILLED ON MAUI

PORTO RICAN INJURED IN CAR ACCIDENT.

Was Riding on Train and Cars Jumped Track—Chinese Was Drowned at Maalaea Bay.

Two inquests were held on Maui within the last two weeks. One case was of an unknown Chinese whose body was found in the water near McGregor's Landing, Maalaea Bay, on June 15. The body had been in the water for three or four days and, as decomposition had set in, it was impossible for any one to recognize the features of the Chinese. Two slight cuts were observed on the forehead, but neither of these caused death, drowning evidently having been the cause of death. The condition of the clothes indicated that the Chinese had been wading in the water at the time he was evidently drowned. A verdict in accordance with the evidence was returned on June 25.

The second inquest was on the body of a Porto Rican laborer about 65 years of age. He was employed at Kihel plantation and on June 11 was riding on the plantation railroad to Camp No. 23. He was standing between the cars and some of them left the track carrying him with them. He sustained a broken leg and internal injuries which caused his death within a short time. His name was Jose Maria Tullora. An inquest was held on June 12 and a verdict, which exonerated the plantation people from all blame, was returned.

THE MAILE SALOON.

The troubles of the Maile Saloon were settled this morning in the Executive Council meeting. C. H. Brown withdrew as the holder of the license and it was agreed that a new license might be issued in the name of J. D. Holt.

THE KAHUNA FAILED

NAME OF YACHT FELL DOWN AS A SAFEGUARD.

The Kahuna Swamped At Sea and Crew Rescued by Pilot—Fearless Brings In Boat.

The Kahuna proved that her name was a false prophet yesterday by filling and swamping about noon off the harbor. There was a stiff breeze blowing and the little green skimming dish was carrying too much sail for the wind.

Attempting to come about, she hung in stays for a moment and the sea came over her gunwale too rapidly to be combated. Skipper "Remington" Harrison and three others who were aboard of her as crew, found themselves in the water while their craft with a smashed boom, like a bird with a broken wing, was helpless in the waves that were running into quite a sea under the strength of the wind.

Captain Lorenson of the pilots was out with his crew returning from a pilot trip and took the shipwrecked mariners aboard. H. M. Dow who was aboard the Fearless called Captain Olsen's attention to what he thought was a boat in distress. The glass revealed the trouble and the Fearless, then going out after a tow, ran up towards the Kahuna, meeting the pilot boat with the shipwrecked crew aboard. The dripping quartet were taken aboard the Fearless and made comfortable while the tug went out after the schooner she had started for.

Skipper Remington and the crew wanted to get the Kahuna in the harbor again, but were afraid of salvage expenses. Captain Olsen, however, offered to go out and bring in the yacht for a small sum just covering his expense, and the boys eagerly accepted. The yacht had floated two or three miles southwest with the wind and sea, but no trouble was found in locating her. Remington and his first mate dived over from the tug and carried a tow line to the yacht.

The Kahuna momentarily righted, but the wet mainsail bore her down again, and this time her mast snapped as it hit the sea. The jib boom got under the stern of the tug and also snapped off, but aside from this the boat got ashore without further damage.

A new set of spars will not prove a very expensive item and as the hull and sails are intact the Kahuna will have a chance to redeem herself in the faces on the Fourth.

The crew were fortunate in the accident, as the jib boom got under the stern of the tug and also snapped off, but aside from this the boat got ashore without further damage.

The local yacht club has long advocated boats of a cruising type which will furnish all the speed and enjoyment necessary and at the same time be comfortable and safe. Hitherto the club has had no fatalities and the narrow escape on Saturday will furnish a degree of caution and prudence that may avert any possibility of a catastrophe.

SAW FIRE IN CRATER

LOOKED LIKE SUN'S GLARIE THROUGH A FOG.

Big Manifestation on July 4 Seems Hardly To Be Expected—More Smoke Than Anything Else.

S. S. Dickinson of the Mackay Cable Company, who has lately returned from Hilo, was in company with Commissioner E. S. Boyd, able to catch an unusually vivid glimpse of the crater of Haleakalana and brings evidence of the actual fire and general cessation of affairs.

"It can hardly be called a big manifestation," said he today, "there was an enormous quantity of sulphurous smoke, and where there's smoke, there's fire," you know. When we started out it seemed almost hopeless for us to expect to see anything, but fortunately, as we entered on the lava beds, the wind began to veer and at the crater was blowing in a fashion that sucked the smoke out of the crater mouth and left it comparatively clear for a few moments.

"Far below, like the sun through a fog, loomed the glow of the internal fires, two vivid cracks of red branching out from the center. It was far down in the pit and with the smoke and mist veiling it, it was impossible to estimate its depth.

"You can hear the molten matter swishing about against the sides of the big cauldron and every now and then a part of the interior funnel would break off and crash down into the depths. Vast quantities of smoke would be sent out immediately blinding and choking us. We saw the fire distinctly but it still looks like a long way from a real, genuine eruption.

DEATH OF A CHIEFESS

REPUTED DAUGHTER OF KAMEHAMEHA DEAD.

Found on the Beach at Waikiki This Morning—Thought To Have Succumbed to Apoplexy.

Kaun, one of the high Hawaiian chiefesses, was found dead this morning on the beach just across from the residence of Prince Cupua. Apoplexy is supposed to have been the cause of her death, but no autopsies have been held, with this point positively determined.

The deceased was reputed to be the daughter of King Kamehameha V. She was of high rank and had been recognized as such by all of the Hawaiian chiefs, even those of high rank. She had been married, but a number of years ago, her husband went into the mountains on some sort of an expedition, and was never heard of. For a number of years past, she had been living on the premises of Prince Cupua who has been her protector.

This morning a little before 8 o'clock she donned a muumuu and went out to take a bath in the ocean. This was the last seen of her alive. She was found lying in the sand about an hour later, dead. Her face was discolored, a condition which indicates that she had succumbed to apoplexy. There were no marks of violence on the body, and death is believed not to have been due to violence. As it is not thought she was drowned.

A coroner's jury was impaneled and an inquest will be held this evening at the police station at 8:30 o'clock. The deceased left several children. She was about 60 years of age.
